Message From Dr. Forbes

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

For all of you, I hope that the past year at Red Deer College has been a truly enjoyable one--both academically and socially. Certainly, I found my relationship with the student body to be a particularly enjoyable one. It was additionally pleasing to experience the quality and level of communication between your representatives and the Faculty, the Board of Governors, and the Administration. For those of you returning to the College next year, I would encourage you to continue to foster these relationships and to make a point of dropping in on some of the meetings of each of these groups.

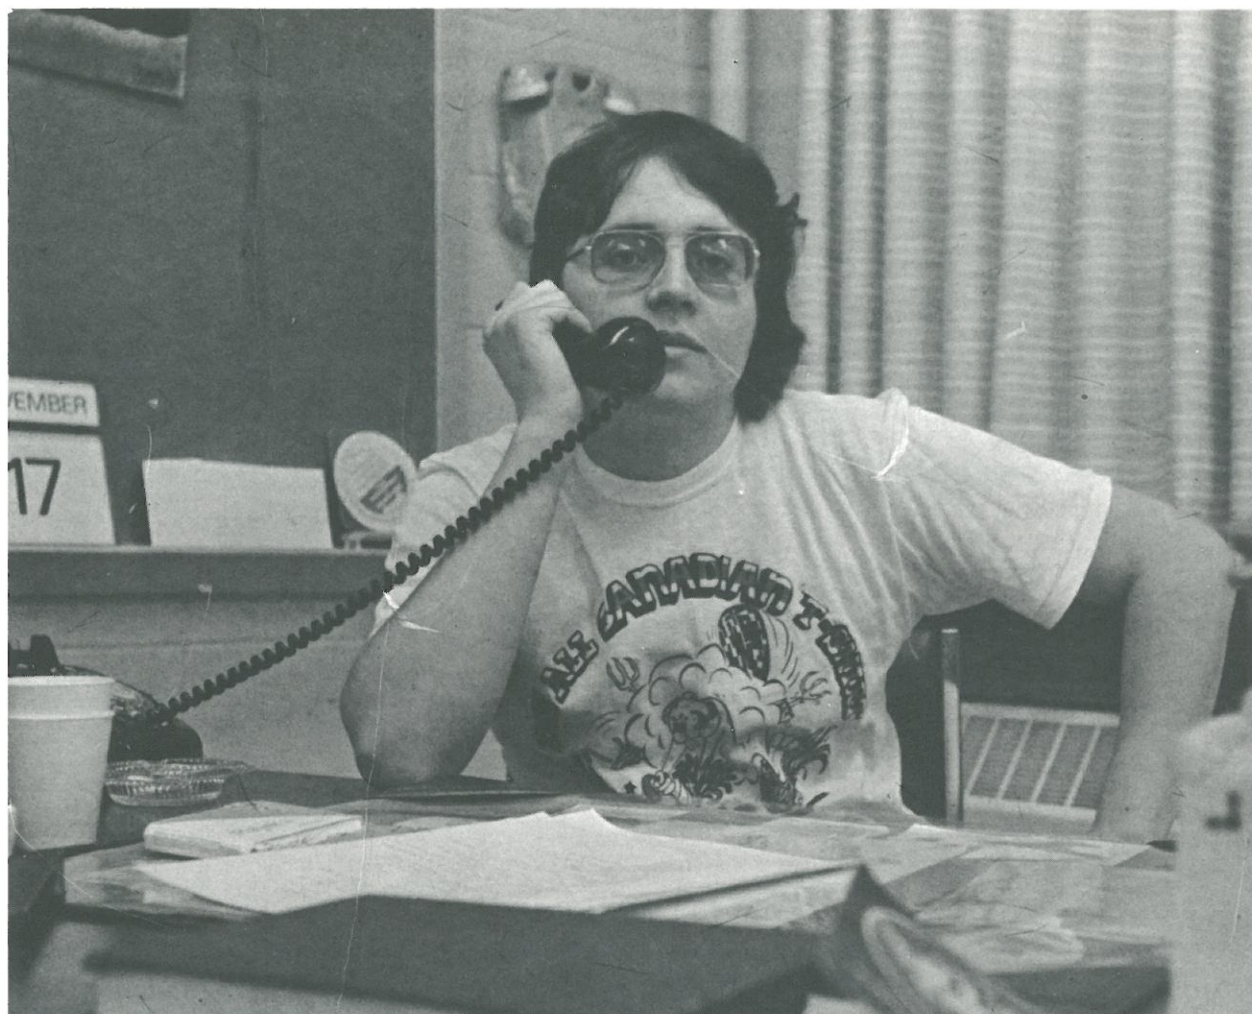

There were two important events, which strongly affect the students, that occurred during the past year and in which some of you played a significant part.

The first of these was the understanding developed between Colleges and Universities which unequivocally guaranteed that transfer students going from a College, and having a recommendation from that College, would be treated by the University to which they were transferring just as if they were students already in attendance at that University. Gone then are the sometimes heard concerns of "If I go to a College, can I readily move to any University in Alberta at the end of my first or second year?" The criteria by which Diploma students may also transfer to many University programs were also established.

The second event of import to the student body was the initiation of discussions within the College to establish a form of Governance in which students, as well as faculty and administration, would have an equal voice in establishing the College's longer term policies and plans. I expect that it will take several years of experimenting to develop the best form of Governance and would thus strongly urge that you make known your comments on this matter to either the Students' Association or to myself.

No message at this time would be really complete if it did not convey the very best wishes from the College for your continuing career. Hopefully, it will involve a return to this College or some other educational institution; if not now, then on those occasions when a few more specific skills or a little more understanding will add significantly to your progress and your enjoyment of life.

Students' Association President's Message

Well, another year has zoomed by. Many of us will be saying good-bye to old friends and going on to meet new ones. Graduates will be going on to find jobs (and finding them we hope). Many of us, though, will be returning; returning to a good institution; but one which could be better. Student involvement in college governance reached a new high in 1974, due largely to people whose names alone would fill up this page. Still, there are not enough. Student government is in itself a learning experience which is not only free, but, I am happy to say, one of the most rewarding experiences of my life.

As members of a generation credited with being the most physically fit, well informed, socially conscious generation this country has ever known, we must be sure our individual impact is felt in Canada. We must take our stand in the face of increasing technocracy and bureaucracy and make sure we receive what we deserve. We should in other words, see fulfillment qualitatively rather than quantitatively.

There is every indication that the students of this year have indeed possessed these qualities. Among the things that have impressed me is student participation in charitable causes, (United Appeal, Red Cross, and so on). Interest shown on the part of many people in student affairs was reassuring and has convinced me that we really are tomorrow's voice today.

As we take our place in the larger community, you will undoubtedly adapt your ideas to the environment to some extent. But, beware, do not change so completely that you conform to the status quo and abandon the ideals we cherish as mere youthful dreams. They can, in fact, become reality and it is our duty to be sure that they happen. I believe that the social and academic experiences have helped prepare students to cope with our world and I am sure that some of you (I hope all) will be instrumental in the development of Alberta; a province deserving of the potential of its people.

In conclusion, I would like to congratulate the students responsible for the production of this yearbook. I am sure it will provide many happy hours for students to reflect on their many experiences at Red Deer College. Good luck, everyone.

Phil Wiedman

Pink Elephant

I always thought they gave you to me because I like pink.
Yesterday I found out
it was because they hate me.
Just something to look at useless
to laugh at.
But they were wrong!
I love you because I didn't know!
You gave me a year of tenderness,
Much more than Grey!

LET ME EXPOSE MYSELF

let me expose myself
to your femality -- naked fish on a naked bed -- and if you object to my banality let me expose your sweet femality instead.

but if we share our sacred animality
and if our shared secrets mean that we can love

and love
and love
and love again.

let us declare that we are free
to be

naked fishes together and let us bleed together
from the exercise to tooth and fin and let us die daily in each other's arms.

G.N.A. Botting

On Art

The portrait smiles unknowingly
At all that will look on
And coldly gleams the marble man
Reflecting light's dark glow
And leaves that flap insensibly
In the rushing wind of time
Belong to the open book
For those who read to find.

Stand Tall

Oh painted face,
and body statuesquely formed and flaunt those printed pages of nothingness
At the patrone of the art.

Special thanks to all those who helped putting together this yearbook. It could never have been done without those many people who stopped by Residence 13 to help. I hope this yearbook has value to all.
